19. 다음 글에 드러난 'I'의 심경으로 가장 적절한 것은?

I heard something moving slowly along the walls. I searched for a match in the dark and tried to strike it, but it wouldn't light. This time I was certain: Something was moving in the tunnels, something alive, and it wasn't a rat. A very unpleasant smell came into my nostrils. Finally, I managed to light a match. At first I was blinded by the flame; then I saw something creeping toward me. From all the tunnels. Shapeless figures crawling like spiders. The match fell from my trembling fingers. I wanted to start running, but I couldn't.

* nostril: 콧구멍

- ① frightened ② delighted ③ depressed
- ④ jealous ⑤ relieved

20. 다음 글에서 필자가 주장하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

Since you can't use gestures, make faces, or present an object to readers in writing, you must rely on words to do both the telling and the showing. Show more than you tell. Use words to make the reader see. For example, don't leave the reader guessing about Laura's beautiful hair. Show how the gentle wind touches the edge of her silky, brown hair. Don't just say you felt happy. Show yourself leaping down the steps four at a time, coat unzipped, shouting in the wind, "Hurray, I did it!"

- ② 시각적으로 실감 나게 글을 써야 한다.
- ③ 일상생활에서 글의 소재를 찾아야 한다.

21. 다음 글의 요지로 가장 적절한 것은?

It is important to recognize your pet's particular needs and respect them. If your pet is an athletic, high-energy dog, for example, he or she is going to be much more manageable indoors if you take him or her outside to chase a ball for an hour every day. If your cat is shy and timid, he or she won't want to be dressed up and displayed in cat shows. Similarly, you cannot expect macaws to be quiet and still all the time—they are, by nature, loud and emotional creatures, and it is not their fault that your apartment doesn't absorb sound as well as a rain forest.

* macaw: 마코 앵무새

- ① 애완동물에게는 적절한 운동이 필요하다.
- ② 애완동물도 다양한 감정을 느낄 수 있다.
- ③ 애완동물의 개별적 특성을 존중해야 한다.

- ⑤ 훈련을 통해 애완동물의 행동을 교정할 수 있다.

22. 다음 글의 주제로 가장 적절한 것은?

Hydroelectric power is a clean and renewable power source. However, there are a few things about dams that are important to know. To build a hydroelectric dam, a large area must be flooded behind the dam. Whole communities sometimes have to be moved to another place. Entire forests can be drowned. The water released from the dam can be colder than usual and this can affect the ecosystems in the rivers downstream. It can also wash away riverbanks and destroy life on the river bottoms. The worst effect of dams has been observed on salmon that have to travel upstream to lay their eggs. If blocked by a dam, the salmon life cycle cannot be completed.

* hydroelectric: 수력 발전의  ecosystem: 생태계

- ① necessity of saving energy
- ② dark sides of hydroelectric dams
- ③ types of hydroelectric power plants
- ④ popularity of renewable power sources
- ⑤ importance of protecting the environment

23. 다음 글의 제목으로 가장 적절한 것은?

Give children options and allow them to make their own decisions—on how much they would like to eat, whether they want to eat or not, and what they would like to have. For example, include them in the decision-making process of what you are thinking of making for dinner—"Lisa, would you like to have pasta and meatballs, or chicken and a baked potato?" When discussing how much they should eat during dinner, serve them a reasonable amount; if they claim they are still "hungry" after they are through, ask them to wait five to ten minutes, and if they continue to feel hunger, then they can have a second plate of food. These are fantastic behaviors that, when taught properly, teach brilliant self-confidence and self-control.

In most people, emotions are situational. Something in the here and now makes you mad. The emotion itself is (A) tied/unrelated to the situation in which it originates. As long as you remain in that emotional situation, you're likely to stay angry. If you leave the situation, the opposite is true. The emotion begins to (B) disappear/appear as soon as you move away from the situation. Moving away from the situation prevents it from taking hold of you. Counselors often advise clients to get some emotional distance from whatever is (C) bothering/pleasing them. One easy way to do that is to geographically separate yourself from the source of your anger.

31. Recently on a flight to Asia, I met Debbie, who was warmly greeted by all of the flight attendants and was even welcomed aboard the plane by the pilot. Amazed at all the attention being paid to her, I asked if she worked with the airline. She did not, but she deserved the attention, for this flight marked the milestone of her flying over 4 million miles with this same airline. During the flight I learned that the airline's CEO personally called her to thank her for using their service for a long time and she received a catalogue of fine luxury gifts to choose from. Debbie was able to acquire this special treatment for one very important reason: she was a _____ customer to that one airline. [3점]

32. Some of the most extensive research on the subject of success was conducted by George and Alec Gallup. They interviewed people acknowledged as successful in a wide variety of areas: business, science, literature, education, religion, etc. The goal of the researchers was to determine what these high-achieving people had in common. There was one thing they all had in common: the willingness to _____. All of them agreed that success wasn't something that had just happened to them due to luck or special talents. 33. When you're eager to get your slice of the pie, why would you be interested in giving a hand to other people so that they can get their piece? If Ernest Hamwi had taken that attitude when he was selling zalabia, a very thin Persian waffle, at the 1904 World's Fair, he might have ended his days as a street vendor. Hamwi noticed that a nearby ice-cream vendor ran out of bowls to serve to his customers. Most people would have sniffed, "Not my problem," perhaps even hoping the ice-cream vendor's misfortune would mean more customers for them. Instead, Hamwi rolled up a waffle and put a scoop of ice cream on top, creating one of the world's first ice-cream cones. He _____ and, in the process, made a fortune. [3점]

According to him, however, entertainers who are alive are not included.

Most dictionaries list names of famous people. (①) The editors must make difficult decisions about whom to include and whom to exclude. (②) Webster's New World Dictionary, for example, includes Audrey Hepburn but leaves out Spencer Tracy. (③) It lists Bing Crosby, not Bob Hope; Willie Mays, not Micky Mantle. (④) Executive editor Michael Agnes explains that names are chosen based on their frequency of use and their usefulness to the reader. (⑤) For that very reason, Elton John and Paul McCartney aren't in the dictionary, but both Marilyn Monroe and Elvis Presley, who died decades ago, are.

Children are much more resistant to giving something to someone else than to helping them. One can observe this difference clearly in very young children. Even though one-and-a-half-year-olds will support each other in difficult situations, they are not willing to share their own toys with others. The little ones even defend their possessions with screams and, if necessary, blows. This is the daily experience of parents troubled by constant quarreling between toddlers. There was no word I heard more frequently than "Mine!" from my daughters when they were still in diapers.

Food is one of the most important tools you can use as a manager. Having a full stomach makes people feel satisfied and happier. Eating together gives employees time to make connections with each other. Providing an occasional snack or paying for a lunch now and then can help your employees feel appreciated and make the office feel more welcoming. These do not need to be elaborate setups. If you have a small budget, you're not going to want to buy lunch at a restaurant for your entire group. Bringing in some cookies once in a while is enough; you can also encourage employees to bring in food themselves.

The key to using food effectively is for it not to become a _____ event. If everyone knows you bring donuts to the Friday morning meeting, it becomes an expectation and not a surprise. To create goodwill, the food must appear to be unexpected. It is also a good idea to praise employees who bring food in without being asked; this creates an atmosphere of sharing.

Families don't grow strong unless parents invest precious time in them. In New Man, Gary Oliver writes about a difficult decision made by professional baseball player Tim Burke concerning his family. From the time Tim can first remember, his dream was to be a professional baseball player. Through years of hard work (a) he achieved that goal.

(B)

When Tim left the stadium for the last time, a reporter stopped him. And then (b) he asked why he was retiring. "Baseball is going to do just fine without me," he said to the reporter. "It's not going to miss a beat. But I'm the only father my children have and I'm the only husband my wife has. And they need me a lot more than baseball does."

(C)

While he was a successful pitcher for the Montreal Expos, (c) he and his wife wanted to start a family but discovered that they were unable to have children. After much thought, they decided to adopt four special-needs international children. This led to one of the most difficult decisions of Tim's life.

(D)

He discovered that his life on the road conflicted with his ability to be a quality husband and dad. Over time, it became clear that (d) he couldn't do a good job at both. After more thought, he made what many considered an unbelievable decision: (e) he decided to give up professional baseball.
